What is Armagnac?

Armagnac is a type of brandy from the Gascony region of France, made from the distillation of white wine and aged in oak barrels for at least two years. It is known for its rustic and robust character, with a single distillation process and several age classifications. What makes Armagnac special is its unique flavor profile, which is influenced by the Gascony terroir, as well as its rich history and tradition as the oldest distilled spirit in France.
